WHITE IBIZA

travel & lifestyle

Introduction

Nestled in the lush green hillside of San Miguel in the island's north, boasting a stunning view up to the whitewashed church of San Miguel, is Can Terra – a contemporary Ibiza villa honoring the traditional Ibicenco style created by the renowned Ibiza architectural firm Blakstad Design Consultants. This new build Ibiza villa is truly a modern masterpiece, featuring exceptional craftsmanship, high end finishes and meticulously maintained gardens including a private olive grove. The very essence of modern Ibiza living.

Interior

Ibiza's glorious natural light plays a huge part in creating the light, fresh ambience within Can Terra. Floor to ceiling windows present simply stunning views – whether to the olive grove, over the sparkling swimming pool or across the forest to the church of San Miguel, while a stunning skylight retracts completely to make the feeling of being beneath the sky and stars a reality. Minimalist decoration and a neutral color palette are contemporary and luxurious and the expansive fully-equipped kitchen adjacent to a bespoke communal dining table is an entertainer's dream.

Al fresco

The 360-degree view of the pine forest and out to sea from Can Terra is truly breathtaking. The front of the property has been beautifully landscaped to include hundreds of olive trees – which are harvested and turned into olive oil each year – while the rear features the outdoor kitchen, alfresco dining space, sparkling swimming pool, deck and chill out areas, with citrus trees and fragrant, wild Mediterranean herbs covering the surrounding terrain.

Bedrooms & Bathrooms

A unique design feature of Can Terra is the way the stylish home is separated into two sections by a stunning glass window feature. The master suite – which includes a spa-like ensuite bathroom including a deep soak tub with an enormous window that slides open to offer unparalleled views across the hill to the church – is set on one side, while four additional double bedrooms, all with ensuite bathroom and some with private courtyards, are set on the opposite side of the house, ideal for families who want space. A guesthouse offers the final bedroom, with an office space attached for those who need to stay in touch with the outside world.

Things To Do

Lovers of fine jewellery and leather works will enjoy exploring the famous 'Artisan Hill' in the nearby village of San Miguel, where local artists open their studio spaces up to showcase and sell their creations. Kids will enjoy touring the pirate caves of Can Marça and taking part in watersports on the beach, while grown-ups may prefer to sample the stunning spa on the cliff top at the five-star Hacienda Na Xamena. The one experience no visitor to Can Terra should miss however, is the iconic sunset drumming session on the neighboring beach of Benirras – a hark back to Ibiza's hippy heritage and an unforgettable holiday memory. By night, retreat back to the villa and set up camp in the home cinema room – just add popcorn!

Around the property

Style: Fresh air and energy flows through Can Terra in abundance when all glass doors, windows and the skylight are open, creating a wonderful feeling of living in the open air. The Dutch owners believe the house comes alive when filled with guests and have created a stylish family escape.

Practicalities

Can Terra features a large parking area at the front of the house, which is protected with an alarm system. The house features underfloor heating for the off-season months, and air-conditioning throughout for those hot summer days. An in-house cinema room provides the perfect way to keep kids entertained and an outdoor kitchen makes alfresco dining a breeze.
